ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

F. L. Houghton of Brattleboro has been elected secretary of the Hobart-Friesian association of America, now in session at Syracuse, N. Y.

A rainbow trout that weighed over four pounds was taken from Greensboro pond early last week, by a Mr. Quinten of that place.

The town of Ripton is bringing suit against the town of Brandon for the small sum of $2.95, the sum being the amount said to be due the plaintiff town for the care of a pauper from the defendant town.

Dr. J. Sutcliffe Hall of Bellows Falls was chosen vice president of the United States pension examining surgeons at a meeting held in connection with the meeting of the American Medical association held last week at Boston.

For the first time in 30 years a body of foreign troops will be entertained in St. Albans on June 30th and July 1st, when the Royal artillery of Montreal are in the city. The artillery has accepted an invitation by the city council to spend Dominion day in St. Albans.

Dr. J. C. Parker of St. Albans has been on a cattle testing trip through Franklin county. He found a large per cent of cattle than usual to be all right. In one herd, however, that of Joseph Trice of Fairfax, ten out of his herd of eleven were found to be diseased.

A new industry, which promises to be of much benefit to Arlington, is soon to be opened up there. What for years has been known as the Millstone car works and which have been idle for a long time, have been secured by a Brooklyn firm and work will be begun soon in the manufacture of portable houses.

There is a wrangle between Brigham academy and St. Albans high school over who won their recent baseball game. The St. Albans high school boys claim that if they had been defeated fairly they would have had the victory, while the Brigham manager claims that he has strong proof that his team won surely and fairly.

An investigation is being made into a probable attempt to wreck the Montreal express at a point near Bellows Falls on Wednesday. Three freight car springs were found on the track after the train had passed over them, without being detected. Some damage was done to the engine, but on account of the great weight of the train, none of the cars were derailed.

The Davis press of Worcester, Mass., has recently published a book for Prof. A. D. Butterfield of the University of Vermont, entitled, "History of the Determination of the Figure of the Earth from Meridian Arc Measurements." The book gives a brief history of the arc measurements up to the determination of the elements of Clarke's Spheroid of 1866, and the author has endeavored to bring together in concise form with as little mathematical discussion as possible, the results of all investigations up to modern times.

Prof. Morse, assistant professor of bacteriology at the University of Vermont, has accepted a position as bacteriologist at the Maine experiment station. His position at the university will be taken by Howard A. Edson, '06, of Randolph. Prof. Brett of the department of mathematics will teach in the college of the City of New York next year and pursue a course of advanced study at Columbia university. Charles S. Pierce, '04, winner of the Phelps prize in civil engineering, for the past year instructor in the university of Illinois, will take up Mr. Brett's work at Vermont.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Connecticut has authorized the local option system as to the furnishing of free text books, as the general election showed seventy-three townships to be in favor of free books and forty-four against them.

The state of Maine has more school teachers to the number of persons than any other state in the Union, with the possible exception of Nevada. Statistics show that there are 239 teachers to every thousand inhabitants.

Thomas M. Bailett, formerly superintendent of schools of Springfield, Mass., and now professor of pedagogy in New York Institute and prominently known as an educator, has been offered the head of the school department of Cleveland, O.

The University of Paris is one of the most cosmopolitan in the world. Of the 14,462 students in the university 1,638, or more than a tenth, are foreigners. There are nearly a thousand women students, less than half of whom are French.

FLOWER AND TREE.

There was recently discovered growing in the spray of the great Victoria falls, in South Africa, a new gladiolus, and it has been named the Maid of the Mist.

No fertilizers or manure substance should be mixed with the soil or sand in which cuttings are to be rooted, as such material has a tendency to decay rather than help growth.

Do not leave the house plants in the sun after showering them with water if it can be avoided. Drops of water standing on the foliage when the sun is shining blisters the leaves.

Some florists claim that flowering plants are benefited by having their roots restricted for room. Crumming the roots tends to the production of flowers, while a large amount of room for the roots tends to the production of strong branch growth.

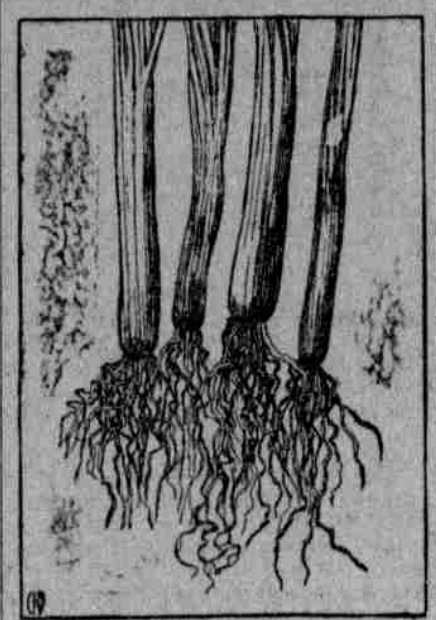

The Bohemian Bridal Toast.

In Bohemia the bridegroom proposes a toast to the bride's worth, and every man present does the same to that of the maiden whom he most admires. This quaint custom is called the ceremony of "pledging the crowns," because the favored ones immediately relinquish their tinsel wreaths to their admirers, who are ready to adorn their own crowns with them.

TRANSPLANTED ONIONS.

When They Are the Right Size and How to Set Them.

We regard transplanted onions as best for garden use. We use Prize takers, sowing the seed in flats or hot bed about six weeks ahead of the time for outdoor setting. One year we sowed the seed outside and transplanted later, and they did not grow so large. This transplanting system gives larger and finer onions and really saves labor, as there is less hand weeding and much work can be done with a small hoe. We set the plants as we would cabbages, in rows eighteen inches apart and four inches in the row. The cut shows the size of onions we like to plant. Wood ashes are excellent for onions, and nitrate of soda or liquid manure will force them rapidly during July and August.—Farmer's Garden.

SEED CORN.

Importance of Testing the Vitality of Individual Ears.

By J. W. DUVEL.

Approximately 15,000,000 bushels of corn are required for seed every year in the United States.

The yield depends largely on the vitality of the seed planted.

Make your own germinating box and test the vitality of every ear of corn before planting.

The time required for individual ear tests is very little. Twelve or fifteen ears will furnish enough seed to plant one acre.

Count the sprouts very carefully. Any ear failing to show 100 per cent of good sprouts should be rejected.

Of 3,322 ears tested 1,906, or more than one-half, were unfit for seed. These samples were taken from ears picked for seed by good, careful farmers and are evidently much above the average.

Field tests have shown that seed of strong vitality will produce the largest yield of corn.

Granting that the samples tested are representative of the present supply of seed corn, the testing of every ear and the subsequent rejection of poor ears will increase the stand 13.7 per cent.

An increased stand of 13.7 per cent would mean an increased annual yield of 208,140,695 bushels, with a value of $100,739,012.91, calculated on the average yield and price for the last ten years.

For the Time of Short Pasture.

Sow oats and peas one-half bushel each per acre May 20, and cut from July 17 to 28. Half an acre of fertile land in a favorable season will sell ten cows during the period named.

Japanese bayard millet, fourteen quarts per acre, sown about June 5, will furnish feed from Aug. 10 to 20, one-third of an acre for ten cows.

Ten quarts of corn and seven quarts of soy beans per acre, sown May 15; cut from Aug. 20 to Sept. 4, one-half acre for ten cows. Sow again June 5 and cut Sept. 4 to Sept. 20. Corn alone, sown June 1, will furnish feed July 20 to Aug. 10.

The area to be sown depends upon fertility of land and the season, so that no exact acreage per cow can be given. The above is simply a guide.—Ohio Farmer.

Newbro's Herpicide not only contains the dandruff germ destroyer, but it is also a most delightful hair dressing for regular toilet use. No other hair preparation is on this scientific basis of destroying the dandruff germ. It stops all irritation, keeps the scalp sweet, pure and wholesome. Rickert & Wells, Special Agents.

Recent Bulletins.

Of interest to those who make wine on a large scale is a bulletin of the California experiment station, "A New Method of Making Dry Red Wine," by F. T. Bioletti. It is technical in character.

"Canning Fruit and Vegetables," bulletin No. 87 of the Oregon experiment station, is a collection of notes on experiments in the use of different temperatures and a study of injurious organisms. It contains some interesting items on putrefactive organisms that produce ptomaine poison in canned meat, head cheese, fresh pork, fish and other animal matter, both raw and cooked. Included in the pamphlet are explicit instructions for preserving cider or fruit juices.

Death from Lockjaw

never follows an injury dressed with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Its antiseptic and healing properties prevent blood poisoning. Chas. Oswald, merchant, of Kennesawville, N. Y., writes: "I cured Seth Burch of this place of the ugliest sore on his neck I ever saw." Cures cuts, wounds, burns and sores. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Are You Looking for a Home?

Why Not Buy One That Will Pay For Itself.

I have a two-tenement house in one of the best locations, three rods from electric car line and ten minutes to large lot of stonedness. Always rented, never vacant. Now you can own this home, have your own rent, and it will pay for itself. I will take a building lot, small cheap cottage or farm in exchange and give you a chance to pay balance in small monthly payments. How many times you have promised you will that sometime you and she would own a home you could call your own. Have you yet made the start, or are you still helping to fill the pockets of the landlord? This house is in first-class repair. Will not have to have a dollar paid out on it for eight or ten years. The price will be cheap, as it must be sold at once. It will not remain on the market long at the price and terms I will give. For further particulars call at or address
